MARKET PAIN POINTS

Why Traditional Finance Apps Fail

Over 80% of users abandon expense tracking apps within their first week.

1. The '1st of the Month' Fallacy

Traditional apps tie budgets strictly to calendar months (1st to 30th).

In reality, professionals receive salaries on the 25th, resulting in artificial deficits, skewed metrics, and month-end confusion.

2. High Entry Friction

Logging a single cup of coffee takes 4 to 5 screens, category dropdowns, date pickers, and confirmations.

When entry takes more than 3 seconds, users quit tracking within days.

3. Cloud Bloat & Privacy Liabilities

Forced account signups, mandatory bank linking, third-party analytics, and advertising SDKs.

Apps exceed 150MB, leak financial data to cloud servers, and fail offline.

CORE PHILOSOPHY

Designed for Daily Speed & Simplicity

Every architectural choice was made to make tracking frictionless and transparent.

Realistic 25th-to-24th Cycles

Budgets automatically align with your actual salary cycle.

Zero Cloud, Instant SQLite

100% on-device SQLite database via Drift.
Instant queries, airplane-mode ready, zero telemetry, and complete ownership of your data.

Strict Category Segregation

No confusing merged categories.

FRICTIONLESS UX

1-Tap Direct Quick Presets & Soft Undo

Instant Ledger Insertion

Tapping a preset chip (e.g. 'Espresso • 45.00 EGP') immediately writes to SQLite without opening forms or dialogs.

3-Second Auto-Dismissing Undo

A clean floating SnackBar confirms the entry with an Undo button. It automatically slides away after 3 seconds.

Dynamic Budget Monitoring & Haptics

Budget limits update instantly upon logging. Gentle tactile vibration provides reassuring physical feedback.
